Open Access in the Humanities at Columbia

Open Access in the Humanities Highlights:

- DOAJ (www.doaj.org)
  The Directory of Open Access Journals allows you to search for all included journals and then narrow by subject
- Open Humanities Press (http://www.openhumanitiespress.org/)
  Open Humanities Press is an international, scholar-led open access publishing collective whose mission is to make leading works of contemporary critical thought available worldwide.
- OAPEN Library (http://www.oapen.org/home)
  The OAPEN Library contains freely accessible academic books, mainly in the area of Humanities and Social Sciences.
- BASE (Bielefeld Academic Search Engine) (http://www.base-search.net/)
  Open Access article search engine

Open Access at Columbia University

- Academic Commons (academiccommons.columbia.edu)
  Academic Commons, Columbia's research repository, preserves and makes available research outputs in any format, including, but not limited to, journal articles, book chapters, working papers, conference proceedings, and datasets. There are currently over 13,700 items in Academic Commons including 1,600 doctoral dissertations and hundreds of master's and undergraduate theses.
- Open Access Policies (scholcomm.columbia.edu/open-access/open-access-policies/)
  Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory, Columbia University Libraries/Information Services, the Mailman School of Public Health, and the School of Social Work have adopted open access policies. They call for faculty members and officers of administration to make their research articles freely available to the public through online repositories, such as Academic Commons.
- COAP Fund (scholcomm.columbia.edu/services/coap-fund/)
  The Columbia Open-Access Publication (COAP) Fund will underwrite reasonable article-processing fees for open-access journals when funds are not otherwise available.

Share your research in Academic Commons!

Follow this link to share your research:

academiccommons.columbia.edu/deposit